

Take control of your publishing

pkp.sfu.ca

PKP School

PKP School

Free, online learning

pkpschool.sfu.ca

Free, self-paced, online learning

Software Courses

---

OJS for Journal Managers

Now open for registration. This course is designed to get you using OJS quickly. Whether starting your own journal or setting up a journal for someone else, you'll find all of the basics covered in this course.

OJS for Editors

Now open for registration. Learn how to perform the major tasks required by an editor, analyze and solve common problems, and discover how to assist others with their use of OJS.

OJS for Reviewers

Spring 2014. Discover how to be a peer-reviewer for an OJS journal, including the technical steps as well as best practices in reviewing the work of others.

Publishing Courses

---

Becoming an Editor

Now open for registration. Learn to become a successful editor of a scholarly journal, including topics ranging from budgeting and strategic planning through to ethical, legal, and financial issues.

Writing for Publication

Now open for registration. This course provides authors with the skills and strategies necessary to create effective and publishable articles from their research. Using emerging technologies and social media will also be covered in the course.

Developing a Library Publishing Program

Summer 2014. Interested in starting a new publishing support program at your library? Or finding out how to strengthen your existing program? This course, developed collaboratively by librarians administering programs of their own, will help your publishing program succeed.

Open Knowledge: Changing the Global Course of Learning

Fall 2014. This university-level course will be available for credit from institutions around the world and to independent non-credit students looking to enhance their knowledge and understanding of issues of openness and global knowledge production and dissemination.

PKP gratefully acknowledges funding from the International Network for the Availability of Scientific Publications (INASP) and the United States Agency for International Development (USAID). Their support made many of these courses possible.